

LA MAGDELEINE

Mathias Dandine

« At La Magdeleine, everything from the décor through the atmosphere and the fresh produce showcased in the restaurant's appealing dishes, conjures up the very essence of Provence. »

With a history spanning more than two centuries, the boutique hotel of La Magdeleine is an integral feature of the traditional Gémenos landscape. Its old stone walls - weathered by the passing seasons and charmingly adorned in climbing plants - have witnessed the comings and goings of many a generation of local residents, including Marcel Pagnol...

Chef Mathias Dandine and his wife Christel are the proud owners of this property

They have renovated it to reflect their shared vision and desire to offer, "an idyllic setting in which to enjoy the delights of fine food."

Signature dishes:

- Zucchini flowers stuffed with Brousse sheep milk cheese
- Vegetable bouillabaisse “borgne” (with no fish)
- Wild sea bass and variations of fennel with shellfish

Le Grand Café Restaurant

It's time to indulge in some old-fashioned home cooking of wonderfully traditional dishes. Golden gratins made with seasonal vegetables are served alongside slow-cooked casseroles and the subtle flavours of home-made terrines. And once the warmer weather arrives, Le Grand Café moves outdoors into the shade of century-old plane trees, alongside the swimming pool. It has all the feel of a Provencal village square, with people coming and going throughout the day, congregating around the fountain, spending fun-filled moments together and delighting in the pleasures of a freshly-prepared meal.

Signature dishes:

- Pistou soup
- Pissaladière
- Provençal stuffed vegetables
- Skewer-grilled lamb
- Rum baba
- Pine nut tart
